

THE DAILY BULLETIN.
THURSDAY EVE., JAN. 10, 1884

7,601.

The above number represents the circulation each week of the Daily Bulletin. It is the only newspaper in the city invited to call and assure themselves of the truth of the statement, and they are required to bear witness that our rates for advertising are the lowest.

EIGHTEEN thousand weavers are on a strike in England.

A pair of knitted socks, two thousand years old, has been discovered in an Egyptian tomb. They are loosely knit of fine sheep's wool, and the foot is finished in two parts to allow the sandals to pass between them.

SEVERAL loaded boats of Pittsburgh coal were cut down and sunk by the ice at Water's Landing, above Cincinnati, on Monday. The towboat Robt. Peebles was sunk by the ice Monday on the New-port shore, near Taylor's Creek. The water is up to her boiler deck.

Another Railroad.

The West Union (O.) Defender says: Mr. Gallagher, of the firm of Wetmore & Gallagher, is in town and brings the word that we are likely to have another railroad. This time the road runs from Xenia to Mayville, via Wilmington, Lynchburg, Winchester, West Union, and from there through the hills to John Branson's, where it hits the head of Island Creek and thence to Manchester and Mayville. Mr. G. says that parties in Xenia have been writing to him about the route, and that his observation is that the route is entirely practical and easy of construction inasmuch as it runs on the "back-bone" or divide between the water flowing into the Miami on one side and the Scioto river on the other, nearly its entire distance. It runs through a highly fertile country and strikes a chain of good towns which are without railroad connection, in a majority of instances.

A Mayville Girl At'ead.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Jan. 4, 1884.

Ed. Bulletin: As the time is now drawing near for me to leave this city of my native land, which is my native home in Kentucky, I will do as I promised—write another letter for your interesting paper. On Saturday, December 30, 1883, we visited the Old Fellows Home. This is a large building of stone and sits back from the street on the eleventh and Tioga streets. The rooms in this building are furnished by the different lodges of Eastern Pennsylvania. On returning, we paid a visit to the cemetery in which Benjamin Franklin is buried. This cemetery is situated at the corner of Fifth and Arch streets. On Tuesday, it being the first day of the new year, there was a large parade called the New Year Parade, in which there were about two hundred and four different clubs, and each member of these clubs was dressed to represent different things. There was a number of fine bands in the parade, such as the Band of the Mayville Band, the McClung Band and others. These are indeed very fine bands and can be excelled by only one other in the United States, and that is Hauck's Reed and Brass Band of KY.

On Wednesday, Jan. 2d, we visited the blind asylum, situated at the corner of Twelfth and Race streets. This is a very large building of stone and at the present time has about one hundred and fifty pupils. In the afternoon, we purchased our tickets for the afternoon, which they have every Wednesday afternoon. Then we proceeded to the men's work rooms where all the men are employed in making different things, such as brooms, brushes, weasels, carpets, &c. After leaving the work rooms we then went up to the exhibition hall, which is on the second floor, and were just in time to see the opening. First made by the young men of about the whole hall consisting of fifteen pieces. Next was the performance on the piano by a young blind girl, then a blind boy sang three or four different songs, then a blind girl sang a solo. We then left the hall and went to the library and read geography and examples and reading and writing, &c. At this asylum the pupils learn three different things, first they receive literary instruction, then music and lastly they are taught to read. On returning to the first floor we visited the school rooms, which are two large rooms, one for the girls the other for the boys.

Mr. Editor, as I have given you a description of the blind asylum, I will now try to give you a description of some of the fine churches of the city. First the Cathedral, situated at the corner of Eighteenth and Race streets. This is a very large building of brown stone and the size of which is about one hundred and eight thousand people. In this building are some very handsome paintings, also the statues of the Apostles in life size. Second is St. Clement's Church, situated in the corner of Fifteenth and Cherry streets. This is the highest Episcopal Church in the city. The choir consists of one hundred and fifty persons. Next is the Bethany Church. It is a Methodist Church and is situated at the corner of Fifteenth and Arch streets. This is a very large church and has the largest Sunday school in the city, the average attendance numbers two thousand and three hundred scholars every Sunday. Next is the Baptist Church, situated at the corner of Broadway and Master street. This is a fine Baptist Church and will seat about six thousand people. The inside of this church is very beautiful, the walls are of white marble and the walls are handsomely frescoed. One of the finest Presbyterian Churches in the city is at the corner of Eighteenth and Arch streets. Now, Mr. Editor, I have given you a description of the churches which I have visited, of course there are indeed many more fine churches in this city, but not visiting them I am not able to describe them.

Paster Called.

Bracken Church, Minerva, has called the Rev. F. J. Crisp, of Brooksville, to preach this year. The meeting day has been changed from the third to the first Sunday in each month. Elder Crisp will preach on the Saturday before the first Sunday at Winter's school house on Pea Ridge, at 8:30 o'clock p.m.

Sad Incident.

Harvey Barnett, brakeman on Smiley's freight train, was killed yesterday afternoon, between five and six o'clock, by being struck by a bridge between Porter and New Forest stations, while sweeping snow from the top of one of the cars. He was thrown off and three of the cars passed over his body. He was about nineteen years old and lived at Carlisle.

The funeral services over the remains of Mr. Daniel F. McCarthy, at St. Patrick's Church were very beautiful and impressive, and were attended by many friends of the family in spite of the disagreeable weather. The military and all the fire companies of the city honored the remains and paid the usual honors to their departed comrade. The afflicted family have the deepest sympathy of their friends in their sad bereavement.

On the 10th of January, 1852, the thermometer in this neighborhood, at midnight, stood thirty degrees below zero, at two o'clock on the 20th, it stood the same and at 12 o'clock, noon, that day it stood at zero. The river closed about midnight on the 19th, for the second time that season. In 1856, January 10th, at six a.m., the thermometer marked twenty-two degrees below zero. On the 11th, at 7 a.m., fifteen degrees below and on the 23rd twenty-three degrees below.

Religious Meeting To-Night.

There will be services at the Presbyterian Church to-night. Speakers, Rev. J. T. Hendrick and A. Boreling. Prayer for the Church of Christ: That it may be purified from its many corruptions and sins, that its members may be filled with the Holy Ghost, realize more largely their unity in Christ, and to more fully manifest that unity before the world in friendly recognition of one another's gifts, in zeal for the evangelization of the world, and for the furtherance of all that is pure, lovely and of good report; that the spirit of party die out, and the mind of Christ be represented in his members; that the church may be brought to cultivate a more earnest expectation of the Lord's coming, and preparation for it; for all ministers of the Word, pastors, evangelists and church workers. Jas: 4: 1; Cor: 3; John 15: 1-10; Matt. 25: 1-13; Col: 3: 1-15; Ephes: 4: 1-16; 1 Thess: 5: 34-24; 1 Cor. 12: 12-26; Rev: 22: 12-21.

CITY ITEMS.

The marriage of Miss Fannie Brownings, daughter of Col. Frank S. Brownings, of this city, to Mr. E. R. Blaine, of the United States Revenue Department at Lexington, and son of the late S. L. Blaine of Maysville, which has been looked forward to with much interest, took place at the Baptist Church yesterday afternoon at six o'clock. The wedding party, attended by Misses Little Houk and Louise Stockstill, of Dayton, Ohio, Miss Little Stanton, of Frankfort, and Messrs. Samuel Blaine, of Youngstown, Ohio, B. B. Payne and Bob Owens, of Maysville, entered the church to the strains of the Wedding March, rendered by Mrs. Thomas H. Mannen, and proceeded to the altar, which was almost buried beneath a weight of evergreens and flowers. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. S. Alderman, of the Presbyterian Church, and was very beautiful and impressive. The ushers were Messrs. E. P. Browning, W. C. Miner and W. H. Means.

The reception at the house was thoroughly delightful in every respect. Mayville has not seen such a gathering of youth and beauty in a long time. The bride, who was chosen as the centre of all attention, wore white Ottomar silk, in train with embossed satin front and elaborately trimmed in valenciennes lace and white chrysanthemums. Her veil was of tulle which fell in graceful folds to the end of the train. She carried a bouquet of Marshal Neil rosebuds. Miss Stockstill wore white silk in train trimmed with valenciennes lace, cut square in the neck; in front and high in the back, with long sleeves. Miss Stanton wore white satin cut in train, princess back, high neck and square front with lace sleeves. Miss Houk wore white silk trimmed with oriental lace, in train, square neck back and front and lace sleeves.

Each of the bridesmaids carried a basket of Marshal Neil buds. The best men and ushers were dressed in the conventional costume.

Among the guests present from abroad were Mrs. W. B. Carpenter, of Cincinnati, Mrs. S. L. Blaine, of Youngstown, Ohio, Miss Meredith, of Louisville, Miss Lizzie Miller, of Millersburg, Mrs. Willa Wiley of Lexington, Mr. J. E. Blaine, of Peoria, Ill., Mr. G. L. Brown, General Passenger of the Kentucky Central, Prof. Menke of Lexington, Mr. R. L. Browning, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, and others whose names we failed to get. Mr. and Mrs. Blaine left at noon to-day on a short visit to Mr. Blaine's relatives at Youngstown, O., accompanied by his God Spots of all their friends in that sad bereavement.

On the 10th of January, 1852, the thermometer in this neighborhood, at midnight, stood thirty degrees below zero, at two o'clock on the 20th, it stood the same and at 12 o'clock, noon, that day it stood at zero. The river closed about midnight on the 19th, for the second time that season. In 1856, January 10th, at six a.m., the thermometer marked twenty-two degrees below zero. On the 11th, at 7 a.m., fifteen degrees below and on the 23rd twenty-three degrees below.

COUNTY POINTS.

January 10, 1884, at the County Clerk's office by Rev. Dr. Hendrick and Miss NANCY MATTINGLY of Mason county, to Mr. JOHN B. ANDERSON, of Mayville, Ky.

Elder W. H. Tiller delivered his farewell address last night at the First Baptist Church, for others of labor. He is an ardent and earnest worker in the cause of his Master, and we trust that whatever his lot may be cast, is the earnest prayer of many friends here.

The mercury dropped down to minus 30 degrees below zero on Saturday, and stood solid for nine hours, making great sleighing.

The kind was passed without accident of any kind, heard from the First Baptist Church, after a stay of two weeks visiting friends here, have returned home.

Miss Mary T. Tarlton, of Cincinnati, was visiting Miss Mattie Tarlton of last week.

Our dear friends, the school children, and pupils, after the rest and recreation the holidays give them, can now renew their studies, and we trust that they will do well.

We do pity the boys that had to entertain the mumps during the holidays, for they made a dreadful noise.

The Tariff.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—"Do you really think we are going to get any tariff law at this session?" a reporter asked one of the members of the Ways and Means Committee.

"Naah," he answered with a look of disgust as he drew his overcoat more tightly about him, and buried his hands deeper in his pockets. "The men don't expect any tariff law of any importance enacted this session. Of course there will be a bill, and it will be talked about, and, maybe it will get through the House, but that will be all. No, in fact we will likely to frame a bill, but the House, to say nothing of the White House."

"What about the Randall wing of the party, will it vote with you?"

"It depends," he answered as he hurried into the office of the Standard. "That will depend on how strong it is. We have got to be very careful in making up our bill."

Fires at Ashburton.

ASHBURTON, O., Jan. 9.—A fire broke out in the Ashburton House block at one o'clock this morning. The block is occupied by the National Bank; Dickenson Jewelers; the hardware store, the Western Union Telegraph office, and the hotel. It was the principal block of the city. The snow is two feet deep, and it was with the greatest difficulty that the firemen got to the door of the fire, and when they arrived the snow制止了 the handling of the hose. The firemen and citizens volunteers were completely exhausted when, after two days' break, the fire was extinguished. The roof of the handsome block is in ruins. The loss is at least $15,000, partly insured. The fire was probably the work of an incendiary.

The Standard Savings Bank in the World.

MOSCOW, Jan. 9.—The smallest savings bank in the world, the directors of which are the smallest directors in the world, is the Irving Penn Savings Bank of the city of Moscow, which is the capital of No. 113, according to its last annual report, 144 accounts, and the total amount in bank on December 1 was $37.33. The bank pays four per cent interest on sums over $1. Each depositor may have but one account. The officers of the bank are men and girls. The accounts are audited quarterly by the trustees of the school. The bank receives one-cent deposits.

The Supreme Court Docket.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The Supreme Court as it settles down to work for the long term which follows the holidays, finds a few new cases to add to the old. The number of cases is three times as heavy as it has ever been able to get through within a year, and of course it will not get through within a year.

A bill has probably passed fixing a closer limit upon the class of cases that may be taken up to the Supreme Court, cutting down the class of cases that can be appealed one-half.

Ohio and Texas to Join Hands.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—It has been proposed by some of the Ohio members working for the restoration of the duty on wool, that it should be joined to the Texas delegation. A United Press reporter to-day asked Mr. Regan, the oldest member from the Lone Star State, what he and his colleagues had done about the matter. "I have not heard any definite expression of opinion. I know we favor a downward scale in wool and everything else that wool enters into."

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

Financial.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Money continues to look for a home of two or three days. The stock market was weak and unsatisfactory, chiefly the result of repeated raids by the bears and numerous unfavorable reports. Among the most prominent causes at work to-day were the continued troubles in the trunk line, which is proposed to be running of Lackawanna by cutting it off from all connection west of Buffalo, as a penalty for its cutting of through freights to the Pacific coast, and reports of a proposed broad front railroad by the New York Central, and reports from Chicago about the cutting of cattle freight. Union Pacific was well supported throughout. It was said to-day that it was a heavy purchaser of the stock. The speculators were irregular, and the changes unimportant.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

SANTA ROSA, California, Feb. 5, 1888.

B. J. KENDALL & CO.—Gentlemen: It is duty to offer to those suffering from the piles and the rectum to use my Cure. I have had the same and protracted the same for five years, for the past three years I have used Dr. J. C. Jackson's Iron Butter, and everything without relief, but after ten day's use of Kendall's Spavin Cure I have not seen the like of it. I have been a spavin sufferer as I have ever been. I have suffered as I have ever suffered. I have suffered almost worse than death. I had a valuable young horse that had a large bunch gather on his hind legs. I tried every kind of remedy and had it cut out without any benefit. I then had it dressed with a special bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and ordered my tender to use it directed. In less than two weeks it had been cured. This being such a thing that would do what Kendall's Spavin Cure did, I have no doubt that it would be a great benefit to you. I tried it at a recent meeting held in this city. I am faithfully yours,

J. H. GLENN.
